Please note: The Eating Disorder Service is the ONLY service that accepts self-referrals via a telephone call.

All young people that are referred also need to see their GP for a physical health check so the service can ascertain how urgent the referral is and check there is not another cause for the weight loss.

Referrals into West London NHS Trust

All new referrals are screened by Duty Clinicians every working day to assess risk and determine suitability for offering an assessment appointment. If CAMHS is needed, families are then placed on the waiting list for assessment with the most relevant team. Cases which need to be seen sooner are offered priority appointments. If CAMHS is not the appropriate, referrals are redirected to the most appropriate service or referrers and families are informed of the correct service to access.
